BUILDING HER OWN CITADEL

BECAUSE she is one of the few Indian immigrants to have made inroads in Hollywood. From headlining Amazon Prime's spy series Citadel to signing a deal with the service to produce more diverse content with special emphasis on female stories, Chopra-Jonas has proved her mettle in a new industry

BECAUSE her influence in her second home is growing. Chopra-Jonas hosted this year's pre-Oscars bash in Los Angeles celebrating South Asian talent and interviewed US vice-president Kamala Harris at the Democratic National Committee Women's Leadership Forum in Washington last year

LIGHTS ON BUSINESS
Owns a haircare brand called Anomaly and an Indian restaurant in New York City called Sona besides investing in Bumble and luxury sportswear brand Perfect Moment

BECAUSE she is a vocal advocate for pay parity in entertainment. After earning the same pay check as her male co-star in Citadel, Chopra-Jonas said how this remained an elusive dream for accomplished actresses in cinema back home in India
