

TRAVEL ITINERARY

A look at what the animals' journey from Namibia to India will entail

- The eight cheetahs will fly from Windhoek in Namibia to Jaipur in a chartered Boeing 747 cargo flight on Sept. 16 and reach Jaipur on Sept. 17. From Jaipur, they will be flown in helicopters to Palpur, located within the Kuno National Park
- Five helipads have been built at Palpur for the purpose
- The distance between Windhoek and Jaipur is 8,367 km. The travel time is 10 hours
- Palpur is 280-odd km from Jaipur, that's 40-42 minutes for a chopper
- The cheetahs will be travelling in crates measuring 114 cm x 118 cm x 84 cm each

INTO THE WILD (Top) The entry gate to Kuno National Park already features its soon-to-arrive star attractions, but not without a nod to its other planned import, lions from Gir; a team of global experts examines an India-bound cheetah in Windhoek, as high commissioner Prashant Agarwal looks on