ADVENTURE TOURISM FOR THE YOUNG AT HEART

In recent times, Rajasthan has diversified its tourist offerings to include a range of interesting adventure activities. These are a few of the options on offer:

- Hot-air balloon rides: When it comes to exploring the beautiful landscape of Rajasthan, there's nothing quite like a hot-air balloon ride. For instance, soar above the vibrant Pushkar Festival and treat yourself to breath-taking views. You can also enjoy the beauty of India's 'Pink City', and absorb its colours, flavours and sounds as you take in magnificent forts, palaces and the bewitching architecture Jaipur is known for. Balloon rides are available across the state subject to prior booking, including in Jaipur, Pushkar and Rajsamand during festivals.
- Cycling: Bicycles are ideal for exploring villages that are close to big towns such as Udaipur, Kumbhalgarh and Ranakpur, or for getting around the lush hills of tourist spots like Mount Abu. In fact, it's a fun and cost-effective way to take in the rich landscape of Rajasthan.
- Horse riding: Horse riding safaris can be experienced near Narlai and other places in Rajasthan. The local breed of Marwari horse is one of the most beautiful in the world.
- Paragliding: Udaipur is the paragliding destination of Rajasthan. Still in its initial stage, paragliding is a sport that must feature on your itinerary, regardless of whether you're an adventure enthusiast or casual vacationer. Create unforgettable memories as you soar above the beautiful, crimson-sand countryside of Rajasthan.
- Camping: There are camping facilities at Jaisalmer, Pushkar, Udaipur, and elsewhere in Rajasthan. Camping expeditions beautifully blend adventure with comfort and offer a truly one-of-a-kind outdoor experience here. Personalised tents equipped with a bedroom, cosy hallway or leisure area and an attached bath are also available for rent. For the adventurous, the ideal time to head out for camping would be between October and March. In Jaisalmer, spots include Damodra Village and the contemporary camp sites at Sam village.
- Water sports: One does not think of Rajasthan when it comes to water sports, but this desert paradise has something to offer on that front too. Rajasthan has no dearth of vast, blue lakes and water bodies where one can enjoy boating and other water sports. Some good sites are in Udaipur, Alwar and Rajsamand.
- Desert safari: The Thar Desert and its camel safari offers visitors a fun, vibrant and memorable experience. The camel safari gives you a glimpse into the rustic lifestyle of the desert villages and its people. Traverse through sand dunes, past ancient havelis, temples and even historic landmarks.
- Jungle safari: A jungle safari is available in all national parks across Rajasthan and constitutes the adventure of a lifetime.
- Zip line: Discover new perspectives as you glide over the diverse landscape of the Pink City, Jaipur, suspended on nothing but a secure line. Fly high over the outer battlements of Jodhpur's most regal fortress and desert lakes. Enjoy the one-of-its-kind view in the Cheerwa Valley of Flowers, Udaipur and Kumbhalgarh, Rajsamand and Kagdi Pick-up, Banswara.

- Jeep safari/Dune bashing: Tourists can enjoy jeep safari/dune bashing at Lakhmana sand dunes as well as at some other isolated sand dune tracks near Sam and Khuri in Jaisalmer.
- Quad biking: A rather new but fascinating adventure product of tourism at Jaisalmer, qua biking can be experienced at various places along with Jaisalmer-Sam road.
- Helicopter joy rides: Enjoy the picturesque views of the grand wall of Kumbhalgarh Fort, the spiritual land of Nathdwara and the majestic lakes of Udaipur from the air. Book the joy rides and take a dive into the heavens.
