

CHIEF MINISTER PUSHKAR DHAMI PROVIDES GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES TO THE YOUTH

Uttarakhand is a young state. After 3 years, in 2025, Uttarakhand State will celebrate the silver jubilee of its formation. Uttarakhand Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami has announced to include Uttarakhand in the list of leading states of the country by this time and his mantra is 'Vikalp Rahit Sankalp'. Youth will play an important role in completing this mission. Keeping this in mind, Pushkar Singh Dami government in Uttarakhand is working to achieve the goal of overall development.

Uttarakhand government under the leadership of Chief Minister Pushkar Dhami is working with dedication for sushasan that is good governance. Dhami government has a zero tolerance policy against corruption at any level. The government is committed to maintain transparency and cleanliness in all government appointing authorities. Uttarakhand public service commission has been given the responsibility to conduct subordinate service selection commission and other recruitment exams by Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami so that they can be conducted with transparency. Uttarakhand public service commission has also issued the calendar of the exams of first phase. Currently the process of recruitment for 7 thousand posts is underway. Along with that, the Dhami government is also working on the recruitment of more than 12000 posts.

Youths are also being connected with the digital revolution to turn them into entrepreneurs. Uttarakhand is making its identity as a digital state. The digital thrust which is needed to take this state to the new heights of development is given by the common service centres or Jan Seva Kendras which are spread to the villages of the state and with the help of them, thousands of entrepreneurs and youths are creating new identities. There are around 11474 common service centres in Uttarakhand. These centres are being run by entrepreneurs in the rural areas, which includes a large number of women entrepreneurs. These entrepreneurs create awareness among the public about new digital technology, help them in getting digital services and also help in providing skill training to the youth in rural areas. Dhami government has started the central government scheme PMG Disha program for this purpose, so that every person can easily use the new digital technology. Government's motive is to provide digital literacy training to at least one person of each family residing in rural areas. More than 1200 new 4G and 5G network towers are being established in Uttarakhand. It will provide easy mobile network access in far flung areas also, which will benefit a lot of youth. Under Bharat net phase 2 scheme, many villages of the state will also be connected. Very soon, tablets will be distributed among 22 thousand primary teachers to connect the primary education with digital medium.
