

GUEST COLUMN | SACHIN GARG

"MDI TAUGHT ME THINGS THAT YOU CAN'T FIND IN BOOKS"

LIFE AT THIS GURUGRAM INSTITUTE IS NOT ONLY INTELLECTUALLY STIMULATING BUT ALSO A WINDOW TO NEW EXPERIENCES

SHEKHAR GHOSH

My time at the Management Development Institute (MDI), Gurgaon, gave me some of the best days of my life. I not only felt intellectually stimulated but also had a great time. I was learning things that can't be taught through textbooks.

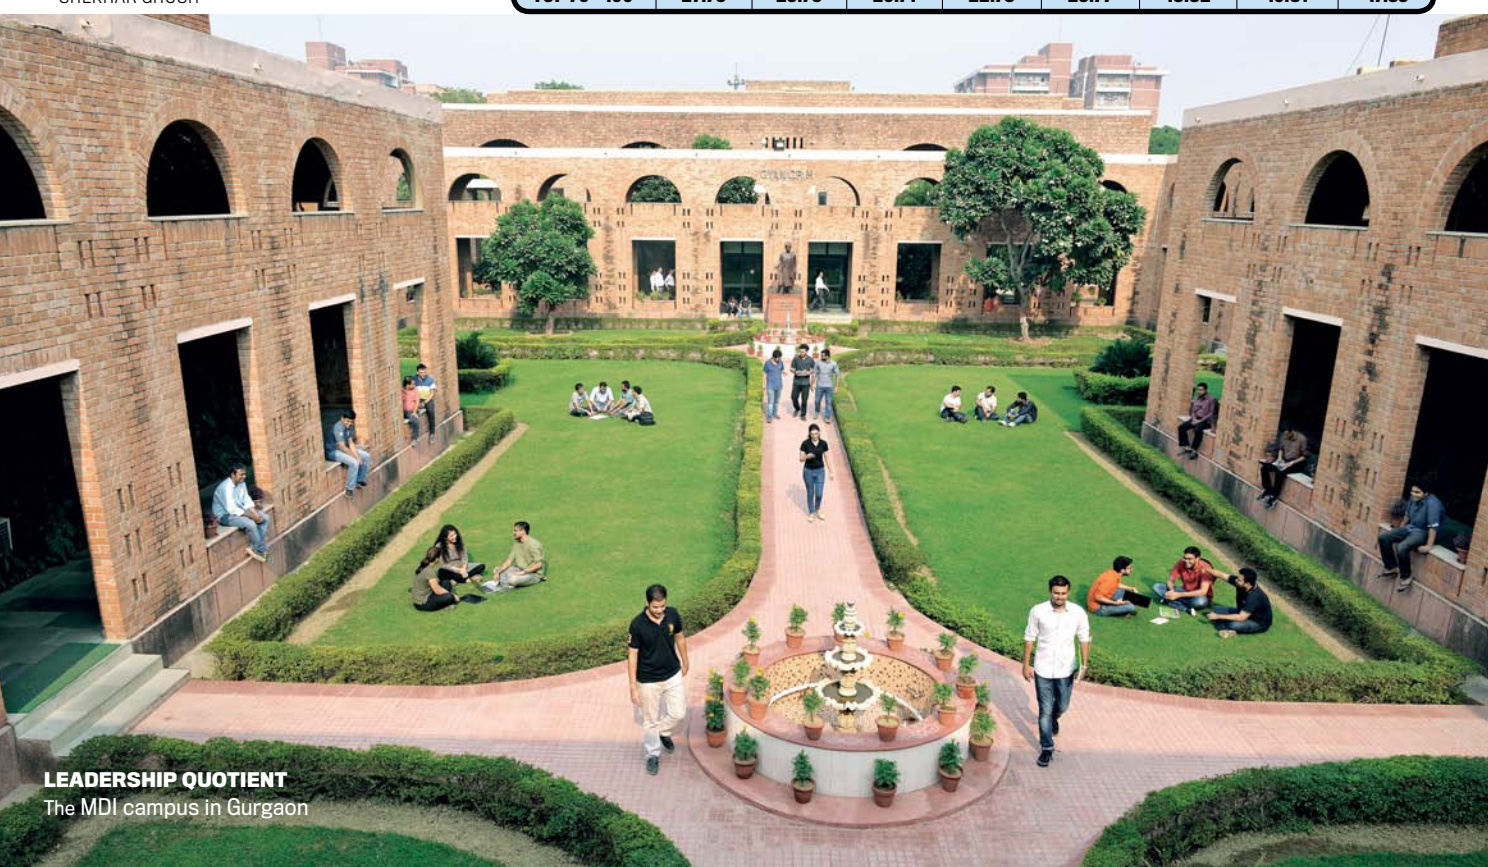

Several professors whom I met at MDI are my sounding boards even today. I met people who went on to become my best friends, and peers who were some of the smartest people in their respective fields. Once, during an exchange programme, I got the opportunity to visit France. The outlook that the trip offered to me was of help when I took my business global a few years back.

Within a year of graduating from MDI, I was an entrepreneur. And in that, the highly connected and helpful community at the institute played a vital role. I remember that on the very first day, the illustrious alumni of the college had been invited as speakers. Post the sessions, I approached two people, both of whom were entrepreneurs. They ended up becoming not just friends but also mentors when I set up my business three years later. It has been 14 years since that day, and they continue to be the first people I call whenever I face a dilemma at work. ■

The writer is an author, publisher and entrepreneur. He graduated from MDI, Gurgaon in 2010

RATIO OF ENGINEERING TO NON-ENGINEERING STUDENTS IN B-SCHOOLS

RANK	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022
TOP 1 - 25	84:16	85:15	80:20	78:22	79:21	71:29	68:32	64:36
TOP 26 - 50	52:48	50:50	47:53	48:52	44:56	50:50	47:53	47:53
TOP 51 - 75	39:61	36:64	27:73	37:63	35:65	33:67	31:69	28:72
TOP 76 - 100	27:73	25:75	29:71	22:78	23:77	18:82	19:81	17:83

LEADERSHIP QUOTIENT
The MDI campus in Gurgaon