act as a leader for guiding the fashion scenario of India. The curriculum is reviewed regularly to meet the current and future."

Keeping pace with changing industry dynamics, the institute recently introduced a range of majors, specialisations, minors and general electives. While interdisciplinary minors permit students to acquire skill-sets in various areas that may complement their major or nudge them towards exploring an unrelated area of intellectual interest, general electives help students enhance their personality and develop interests in specific domains such as communication skills, critical thinking skills or professional eth-
