SECURING PEOPLE'S LIVES: TELANGANA'S EXEMPLARY LAW & ORDER MODEL

There is no denying that Telangana has made significant efforts to ensure the safety and security of its citizens, a redeeming feature that sent across a positive image of the state that helped attract investments across sectors. The government has focused on modernizing the police force and providing them with the necessary resources and technology to effectively combat and contain crime. Allocation of special funds for maintenance of police stations, bolstering intelligence network, and strengthening surveillance by installing 9.8 lakh CCTV cameras demonstrate the commitment to enhance security measures.

The notable achievement is the establishment of SHE Teams, a specialized unit focused on women's safety. The presence of these teams helped instil a sense of security among women and made Telangana a role model for other states. Additionally, the state government's decision to pay envious salaries to Home Guards and its all-out war against sale of illicit liquor, gutka, banned narcotic substances, and illegal gambling activities have created a safe environment.

The Telangana government has also recognized the importance of its traffic police force to which it provided a 30 percent risk allowance, a unique initiative in the country. Moreover, recruitment of a sizeable number of police personnel and the ongoing process to fill up additional vacancies reflects the government's commitment to boost the strength and capabilities of the force. These efforts and initiatives have contributed to Hyderabad and other cities in Telangana being regarded as safe destinations, instilling a sense of confidence among national and international investors, who are pumping in millions of dollars by way of investments. The focus on ensuring safety and security has been crucial in positioning Telangana as an attractive hub for major investments.

State-of-the-art police Commissionerate and Integrated Command and Control Centre have been constructed at Hyderabad. The Command Control has a hub with a 24/7 statewide surveillance, monitoring, coordinating with other departments in the event of any calamity.

Around 9.8 lakh CCTV cameras have been installed in the state, including on highways, for a close monitoring of the law and order situation, which is a record in the country. The state has remained peaceful and there have not been any communal riots in the capital, which is inarguably one of the biggest accomplishments of the police force.

The Government of Telangana has been actively working towards creating employment opportunities and promoting job growth in the state. There has been a regular recruitment for various government positions to meet the administrative needs of the state. Recruitment drives have helped fill thousands of vacancies in myriad sectors like police, education, healthcare, and other government departments. From 02-06-2014 onwards, approximately 1,43,274 new posts were sanctioned. The Government has accorded sanction for filling up 1,61,572 posts through direct recruitment from June 2014 to February 2022. The selection process has been completed for 1,41,375 posts. In March 2022, the Chief Minister announced filling up of 80,039 vacancies and the recruitment process was entrusted to various recruiting agencies, including TSPSC with 95% reservation earmarked for local candidates.

The government has implemented various rural employment programs, such as the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MGNREGS), which provides wage employment to rural households, thereby generating job opportunities in rural areas. These pioneering efforts and initiatives have played a crucial role in creating employment opportunities and attracting investments, thereby consolidating the state's overall economic growth.
